Why is Stop The Steal already showing Donald Trump winning exit polls and it's a week before the election?

Following are some screenshots I grabbed yesterday (October 1, 2016) from StopTheSteal.org. Before taking each screenshot, I hovered my mouse over an individual state, thus bringing up a pop-up that showed Stop The Steal's polling data for that particular state.

The following is a link to an archive of the homepage of StopTheSteal.org, as of October 1, 2016: <https://archive.is/zIzyL>. (However, note that the map captured by that archive is not interactive. For instance, you can't hover your mouse over the archived map and be shown polling data about the state you're hovering over. That's why on October 1, 2016 I grabbed the above screenshots, which show Stop The Steal's polling data for each state because my mouse was hovering over those states when I took the screenshots.)
